

Responses to consultation on East Sussex County Council's proposed Post-16 Transport Statement 2018-2019

We asked for views on any aspect of the proposed statement.

Two people completed the survey online. Their comments are as follows:

- 1) The policy appears to support those in greatest need and given the financial stranglehold Whitehall has imposed on local authorities, it seems to make sense to target the most vulnerable in society.

- 2) Many young people with disabilities need to go to schools or colleges further from their home. Other young people do not. Therefore, some young people will be paying for transport where another person in the same street does not. This is a direct result of their disability and is therefore discriminatory.
